Livingston County Children's Network: Community Scorecard

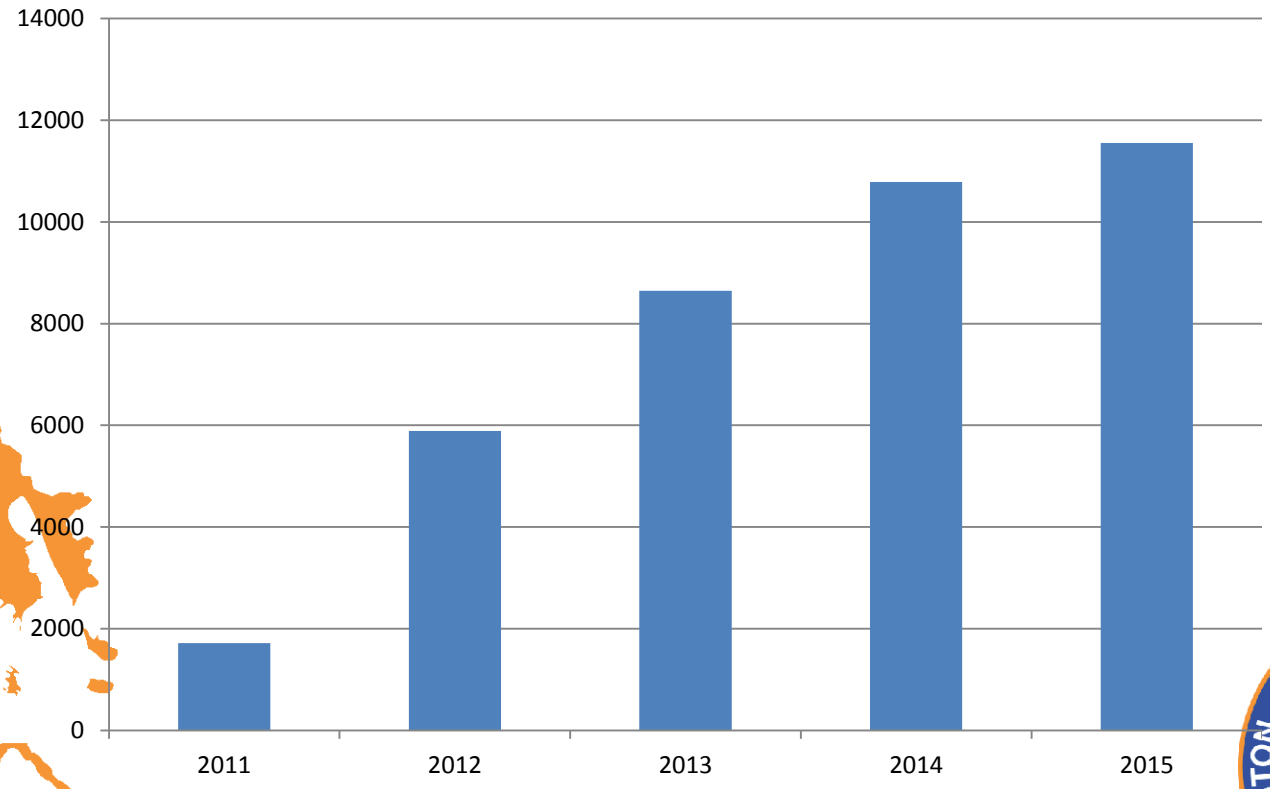
March 2016

LIVINGSTON COUNTY CHILDREN'S NETWORK

Celebrating progress towards the fulfillment of our vision:

Families all across Livingston County will utilize and value a comprehensive continuum of services to promote children's social and emotional development which will, in turn, effectively reduce at-risk behaviors and strengthen relationships.

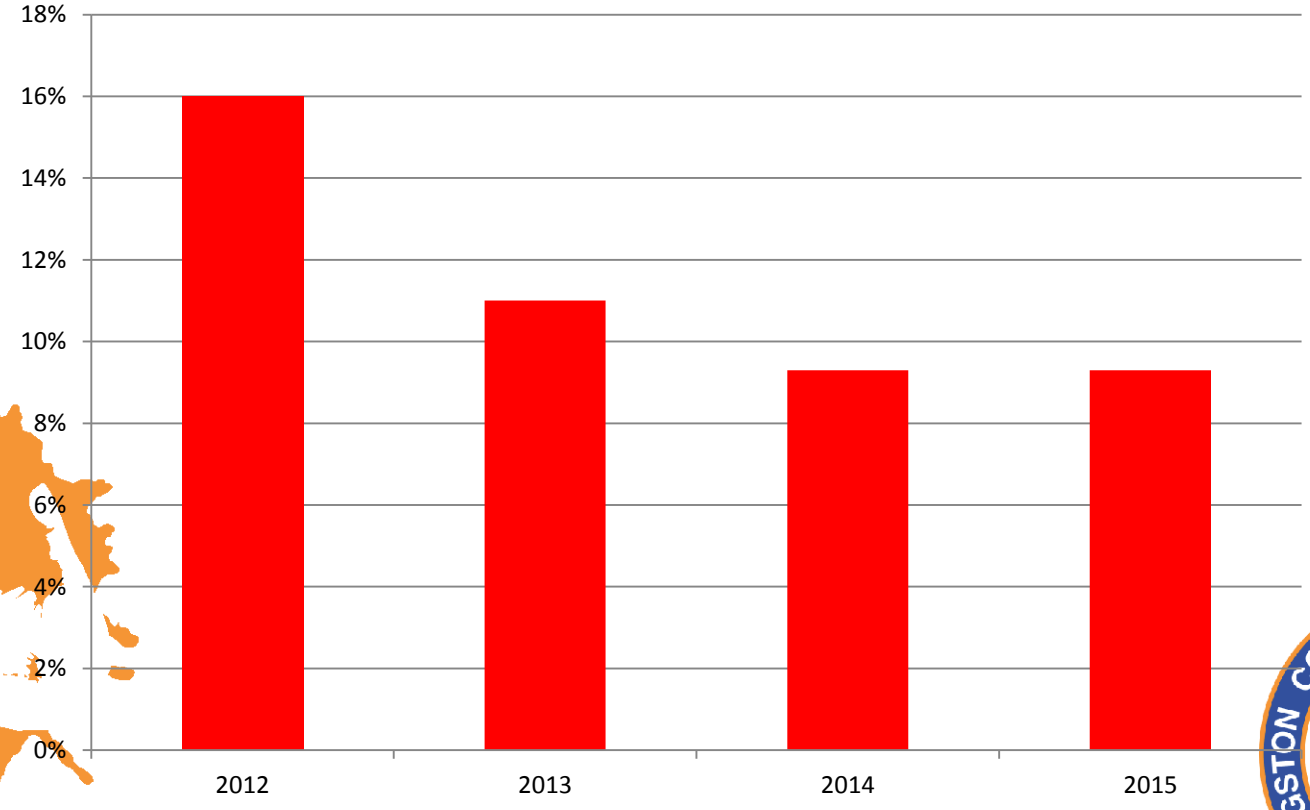
We want to be sure ALL our children are on track. In 2015, we completed 11,556 screens for social-emotional-behavioral concerns!



Screening occurs in primary care/health dept, the courts & schools

LIVINGSTON COUNTY CHILDREN'S NETWORK

The percentage of children who are at-risk for social-emotional-behavioral concerns is decreasing!



This decrease suggests that our prevention and early intervention strategies are working.

94% of children are in classrooms with Positive Action© teachers.

70-80% of at-risk children and youth receive individual or group services at school.

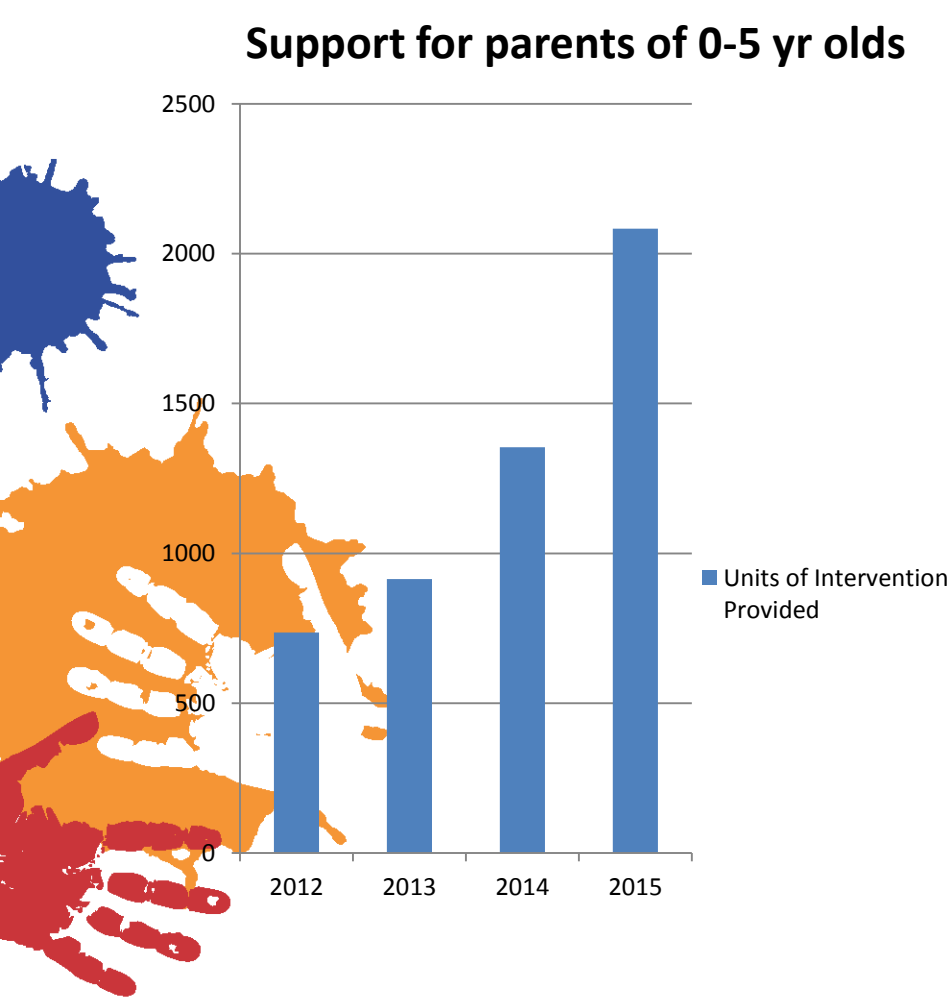
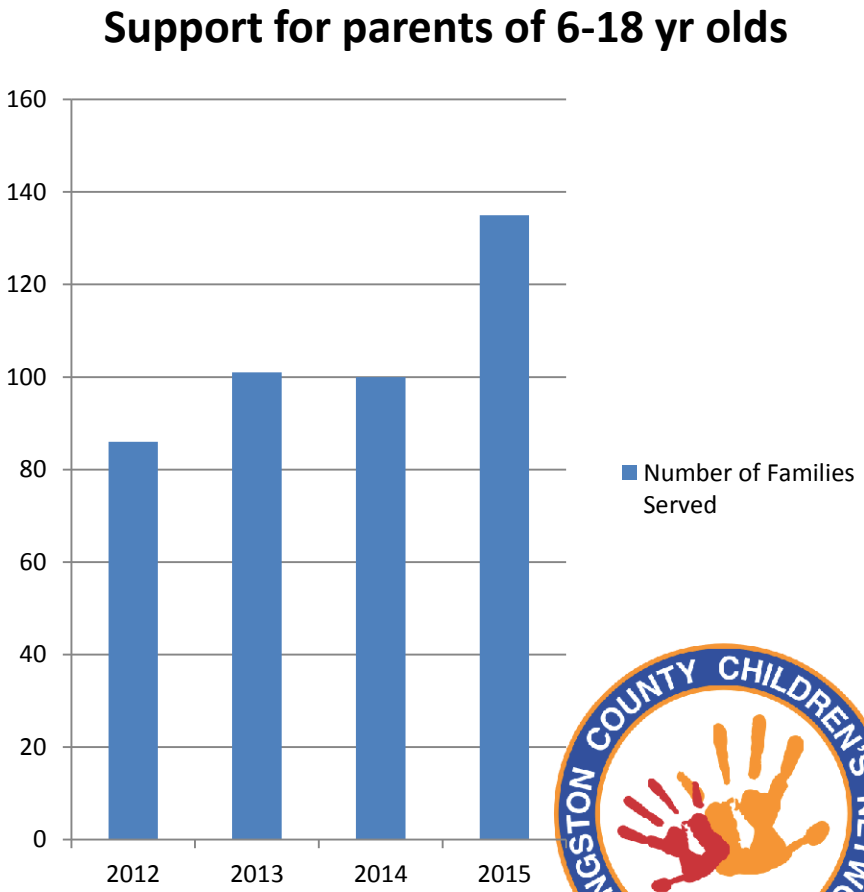
Many more families who need parenting supports are accessing them.





The number of children and adolescents provided therapy by Institute for Human Resources (IHR) has nearly tripled.
