

Child Health

CDC's Diabetes Homepage

This is the homepage for diabetes from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. It is a large site for the large topic of diabetes and covers Type-I and Type-II diagnosis, treatment, and other information. It is a good starting place to learn about diabetes for the CASA.

<http://www.cdc.gov/diabetes/>

National Diabetes Information Clearing House

This is another large site from the National Institutes of Health's National Diabetes Information Clearing House. It is a repository of information for all aspects of diabetes including diagnosis, treatment, complications, statistics, and clinical trials. It provides an A-to-Z listing of diabetes articles and information that could be helpful if looking for a specific aspect of diabetes information. The entire site is also available in Spanish.

<http://diabetes.niddk.nih.gov/>

ADA's Type-I Diabetes homepage

This is the homepage for Type-I diabetes from the American Diabetes Association. It includes sections defining the disease, the basics of managing the disease, medication and treatment options, and a section on complications. This information will be useful to CASA's needing to learn specifically about Type-I diabetes <http://www.diabetes.org/diabetes-basics/type-1/>

ADA's Type-II Diabetes homepage

This is the homepage for Type-II diabetes from the American Diabetes Association. It includes sections monitoring blood glucose, medication and treatment options, and a section on complications. This information will be useful to CASA's needing to learn specifically about Type-II diabetes. <http://www.diabetes.org/diabetes-basics/type-2/>

Easy to read immunization schedules for all ages. This link takes you directly to the 0-6 year schedules in both English and Spanish.

<http://www.cdc.gov/vaccines/schedules/easy-to-read/child.html>

Illinois Children's Mental Health

This Site provides Family Support Resources for family members, parents, or caregivers who are dealing with mental health issues. It also offers various websites to look at different resources for families dealing with mental health issues.

<http://www.icmhp.org/resources/fsorgs.html>